Budget Cuts affect library resources

Budget reductions at the WCCC have led to a decrease in the number of resources available for community college students statewide. The community college library director's met and discussed which resources to cancel. The first round of cuts included: Science, ProQuest Comprehensive, ProQuest Academic Complete, Ovid, Films on Demand Career & Tech Collection and RB Digital titles.

Please contact the library for further details and to discuss alternate resources that are available.

Merger

From the WSL-

“The company which owns RBDigital recently merged with another library media company and as a result will no longer be offering the unlimited subscriptions models for lending digital audio and magazines which have been available to Wyoming libraries through the RBDigital platform. In addition, the new company intends to discontinue the RBDigital apps and website in the near future.

In order to continue offering statewide, equitable access, the Wyoming State Library will be migrating all audio content to the cloudLibrary platform as of October 1, 2020. Unfortunately, there will be no platform to host the digital magazines after October 1 on a statewide basis, so the digital magazine service will cease at that time.”

Services @ your library

EWC library will continue to offer chat services to patrons. We will also continue to offer curbside service as requested. Library instruction will still be offered. Please consult staff about alternatives to face to face instruction.

New Resource @ WSL

“The Wyoming State Library recently added LinkedIn Learning, with more than 6,500 video courses for career development, to its GoWYLD Job & Career Support online resources. Take a quick tour of the new resource in this short video introduction with Matt Nagy, eLearning Coordinator for the State of Wyoming Department of Administration & Information.”- Outrider August 2020.

Fall Events

The library will celebrate Constitution Week and Banned Books Week as usual. We will not be having a coffee bar or coordinating a Veterans' Day program.
