PLEASE NOTE: You must have filed a 2022-2023 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and have completed your financial aid file (received an offer letter) BEFORE submitting this form. All appeals must contain supporting documentation. Unsigned, incomplete, or inadequately documented forms will not be considered. Submission of an appeal does not imply your request will be approved. Appeals should be submitted as soon as possible, but no later than mid-term of the semester for which the student is requesting aid.

Financial aid eligibility is normally based on the student's and his/her spouse's (if applicable) gross annual income and asset information for the FAFSA tax year. The Federal Methodology formula uses information from the FAFSA to estimate what you might be able to pay toward your educational expenses. The formula automatically adjusts for certain expenses, but students sometimes have a decrease in income or other financial issues in a subsequent year that would not be reflected on the FAFSA. If this year's FAFSA does not reflect your current financial situation, we may be able to re-evaluate your financial need based on your 2021 information and/or projected gross income for 2022. For independent students, we consider income for the student and, if married, the spouse.

You will be notified in writing of the Appeal Committee's decision. Allow 30 days for review. Additional time may be needed for review if the Financial Aid Office requests supplemental information. If we are able to make adjustments, we will submit corrections to your FAFSA data. If you qualify for additional aid based on your adjusted financial need, we will award the additional aid when the correction process is complete. This correction process could take up to two more weeks, depending on the time of year.
