

Eastern Wyoming College

Archaeology and Anthropology
Discover Your Story

Cultural Anthropology is the study of human culture. Cultural Anthropologists study various aspects of modern culture wherever it occurs, employing observation, interview, and other methods to understand cultural behavior. Subfields of cultural anthropology include Demography, Medical Anthropology, International Relations, Linguistics, and Urban Studies.

ANTH 1200 – Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
3 credit hours

Counts as a Social and Behavioral Science at EWC, transfers as an A&S College Core and a USP Humanities Course at UW.

Spring 2024 • Tuesdays and Thursdays • 1:00-2:5pm
Archaeology and Anthropology Lab – Tebbet 208

Dr. Steven P. Howard, PhD
Archaeology and Anthropology
307-534-2964
showard@ewc.wy.edu

Eastern Wyoming College
3200 West C Street
Torrington, Wyoming 82240
(307) 532-8200